

THE LOST BOYS

Starring Kiefer Sutherland, Corey Feldman and the late Corey Haim, cult favorite The Lost Boys was released 30 years ago on July 31, 1987. Filmed on location in Santa Cruz County, the movie is considered a keystone in vampire cinema. Re-live your 1980's teen-vamp fantasies in Santa Cruz, where many of the filming locations still stand today. From scenic West Cliff Drive to the iconic trestle bridge to the legendary Santa Cruz Beach Boardwalk, these movie locations look almost identical to how they appeared on the silver screen three decades ago. Summer 2017 will see an open-air screening of The Lost Boys on the beach, kicking off the Boardwalk's free summer movie series.

WEST CLIFF DRIVE

SANTA CRUZ

The opening scenes from the film introduces the audience to "Santa Carla". West Cliff Drive is a scenic, 3 mile walking and biking path along the Pacific Ocean in Santa Cruz. West Cliff Drive ends at beautiful Natural Bridges State Beach. Enjoy a leisurely stroll that covers almost 6 miles round-trip.

LOEFF CAROUSEL

SANTA CRUZ BEACH BOARDWALK
400 BEACH STREET, SANTA CRUZ

The 1911 Loeffl Carousel is a hand-carved merry-go-round and a National Historic Landmark. This sweet ride was the setting in the film when a dustup occurred when David, played by Kiefer Sutherland and his followers confront the new out-of-towners.

SCENIC VIEW OF THE SANTA CRUZ BEACH BOARDWALK

E. CLIFF DRIVE, SANTA CRUZ

Sometimes referred to as Cliff Drive Vista Point, this diminutive neighborhood park in Seabright is the setting for one of the most picturesque views of the Boardwalk. For social media lovers, Cliff Drive Vista Point is probably one of the best places for a #selfie!

DAY'S MARKET

526 SEABRIGHT AVE, SANTA CRUZ

A friendly whale – shown in the film – once protruded from the side wall of this Seabright neighborhood shop. Seabright is a vibrant, welcoming district with restaurants, breakfast spots, and a brewery with a sunny, dog-friendly patio and a lively vibe. Soak in the local flavor of this sunny Santa Cruz spot.

STAIRS AT THE COLONNADE

SANTA CRUZ BEACH BOARDWALK
400 BEACH STREET, SANTA CRUZ

The motorcycle race scene starts here, as the bikes tear down the beach and the rivalry between Jason Patrick and the vampire crew gets heated. The stairs connect Main Beach with the colonnade on the boardwalk, where Santa Cruz memorabilia and salt water taffy can be found.

COMIC BOOK SHOP

ATLANTIS FANTASY WORLD
1020 CEDAR STREET, DOWNTOWN SANTA CRUZ

The original shop was located on Pacific Avenue in Downtown Santa Cruz, however in the film it was made to look like it was on the Boardwalk. Stop in and take a look at its current location and say hello to owner Joe Ferrara, who played an extra in the movie!

SANTA CRUZ WHARF

SANTA CRUZ

The location of Max's Video Store in the movie, and current home of the Bay Company. The pedestrian-friendly wharf celebrated its 100th birthday in 2014 and is lined with shops and restaurants. Stretching a half-mile into the Monterey Bay, the wharf – one of the oldest in the state – is also home to migratory birds, sea lions, sea otters and other ocean-loving critters.

POGONIP PARK

333 GOLF CLUB DRIVE, SANTA CRUZ

This picturesque spot is popular with hikers and features over nine miles of trails and remnants of a lime kiln. A multi-use trail provides a connection between Henry Cowell Redwoods State Park, Pogonip, and UC Santa Cruz' upper campus.

TRESTLE BRIDGE

SANTA CRUZ

The railroad trestle bridge featured in the movie is located in southern California. However, because the "trestle bridge" in Santa Cruz is so popular we've included it here for the total fan experience. Built in the 1800s, the bridge measures 332 feet long. A pedestrian walkway makes crossing easy, but be sure to stay off the tracks – and watch out for hanging vampires!
